Graduate Student Support Services
Seth Chisholm/Queen's University
Thursday, September 28, 2023, 2:30pm
Dupuis Hall, Room 217

The workshop is an attempt to bridge the service gap between Undergraduate and Graduate Studies within Queens Engineering. There are plenty of supports, but few students are prepared for the transition into graduate life as this transition involves not only changes in academics, but changes in the social, financial, and organizational realms of life. This workshop intends to provide a number of resources and strategies aimed at enhancing Grad Student's knowledge of what is available to them, and where they can find the supports they deserve.
